If you are not covered by a plan at work and your filing status is Single, Head of Household, Qualifying Widow(er), and Married Filing Jointly or Separately with a spouse who is covered by a plan at work then you can take a full deduction up to the amount of your contribution limit.

The deduction for taxpayers making contributions to a Traditional IRA is phased out for singles and heads of household who are covered by a workplace retirement plan and have modified adjusted gross incomes between $64,000 and $73,999. For married couples filing jointly, in which the spouse who makes the IRA contribution is covered by a workplace retirement plan, the income phase-out range is $103,000 to $122,999. For a Traditional IRA contributor who is not covered by a workplace retirement plan and is married to someone who is covered, the deduction is phased out if the couple's income is between $193,000 and $202,999. If your filing status is Single, Head of Household, Qualifying Widower, Married Filing Jointly or Separately, there is no limit to your AGI and you can take a deduction up to the amount of the contribution limit.

The adjusted gross income phase-out range for taxpayers making contributions to a Roth IRA is $193,000 to $203,000 for married couples filing jointly. For singles and heads of household, the income phase-out range is $122,000 to $137,000. For a married individual filing a separate return who is covered by a retirement plan at work, the phase-out range remains $0 to $10,000.
